TWO CENTS

TENTH YEAR.

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1894.

MUST HAVE THE MONEY

Council Will Borrow Some More.

THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS WILL Pay for the Paving and Grading of Intersections on Third Street and for the City's Share of the Church Alley Improvement.

When council meets next week there are reasons for believing that the members will be called upon to negotiate another loan.

The cause for the increase of the city's indebtedness lies in the truth that there is not enough funds at hand to complete the paving of Third street—that is, to make the work what it should be. The intersections must be graded and paved, and the city must pay its share of the Church alley improvement, which will soon be ready for use. Members of the finance committee have been investigating, and find that the money must be borrowed. The amount is not large, and as the money can easily be secured, the action will not involve dissatisfaction from any quarter. The News Review has the information from a reliable source.

PAVING IN PROSPECT.

Improvements Contemplated for Next Year.

If hard times do not come again, and the great industry of East Liverpool continues to forge toward the front, there is every reason to believe that the city will be vastly improved before the end of the century, and chief among the changes will be the paving of many streets and alleys now given over to the murky mud of winter and the stifling sand of summer.

The News Review has heard many property owners wonder why streets upon which they live have not been paved, and has listened to the admiration of more than one stranger as he looked upon the highways already improved and made the best to be found for miles around; but it determined to look into the avowed policy of council for the future, and obtained the information. From different members it has been learned that improving the city is the wish of all, but there were none who wanted a sudden rush of debt. Now that finances are looking so well, and there is prospect of the city moving to a foremost place in the front rank of well conducted towns in Ohio, the idea seems to be that a little should be done each year. An alley or two and a few streets added every twelve months so that the burden will not all come at one time, and the city will still be improved and made more habitable as it advances toward the position it will eventually occupy. President Berg was questioned as to his view on the matter, and said:

"I am in favor of making this place the banner city of Ohio without regard to the population. We have all the advantages of location, and although it may cost us more than some of the places where the ground is level, we have a spirit of progress which you will work hard to find in what they call the best towns. We have it right here in Liverpool, and we are going to have more of it as the city grows and prospers. I think that Fourth street should be paved out to the bluff and believe it will be done next year. Jackson street needs to be improved and will likely come in at the same time. Both of these streets are used by many people, and their condition in winter is something that should not be endured in a place like this. It would be a good idea to make them as good as other residence streets for the advance in the price of property will justify every cent of investment. Another street which needs bricks is Avondale. I know some people who have not located it just right or who do not realize the important position it occupies will think I am wrong in making such a suggestion; but just stop and think it over for a few minutes, and you will see where the proposition is right. The construction of the ground on every side of the street, and the location of the roadway itself compel paving. If council does not decide to pave, the snow and frosts of a few winters will render the grading already done worse than useless. When water comes down the road it comes with a rush, and many dollars damage will result after the first big washout. The city will be compelled to pave in order to protect itself against the loss of what has already been expended, and I believe it will be policy to improve it for no other reason. But there is another, and that is the importance of having an outlet that will make better traveling than the Calcutta road. This last is a bad road, and you won't find a town for miles around that has one much worse. Avondale street is a treasure beside it, and when cut through to McKinnons will make a much better way for farmers, and will be appreciated by those who visit Riverview cemetery. At present the long pull going up and the long hold back coming down is almost the last thing that will attract trade to East Liverpool if the farmer can get what he wants in some other town. As a rule the lots along Avondale street are not wide, and being owned by a great many persons would not make the cost so heavy that there would be much objection from the property owners. In fact they would greet the change with open arms, and gladly pay their part of the cost. If we decide on this system of improving a little every year it would not be long until the whole city is paved, and the chances for disease springing up so lessened that we will have a model town. Suppose we improve Fourth and Jackson and a few alleys next year; Jefferson, Monroe and Robinson or College the next year, and so on until all are done, you can easily see what a great thing it would be for the city and for property. I would like very much to see this course adopted, and think we have done very well in having Third street and Sheridan avenue fixed this year. The people are pleased, too, and appreciate the good they will eventually derive from the expenditure."

Since talking with President Berg the News Review has learned that some people of the East End are anxious to have at least one street paved there as soon as possible. Since the electric light plant was so badly hurt by fire they have been wandering around in mud and darkness until they are disgusted, and are expressing themselves in favor of improvements of this kind. If council moves in this direction, and has the street paved, there will be an increase in the population of East End, and a general awakening to a realization of the beautiful situation of the suburb. Let the good work go on.

IT WILL TELL.

Good Work and Moderate Prices Always Win.

Merchants and business men in the city have awakened to the fact that the News Review is the medium of mediums for advertising in this section of county, and advertisements placed in these columns are sure to bring good reward to the investor, if he has the wares or goods he advertises.

In the way of job work, this office stands at the very head and front. We carry any material desired, from the common grades to the best manufactured, and we give our patrons just what we promise them. Our prices are reasonable, as will be vouched for by hundreds of customers. We have the best workmen in the city, and pay them the highest wages going. If you want first class work, at moderate figures, you will call on the News Review.

Take a glance at our advertising columns in today's issue. We were forced to issue a supplement, in order to protect and please our readers. Instead of eight columns of reading matter, local news and happenings, we give eleven columns. Square dealing and enterprise will win.

QUAIL SHOOTING TOMORROW.

The State Law Gives Permission to Hunt.

With tomorrow state censorship passes away from quail, and hunters have the right to kill all they can find. This section has been so thoroughly hunted in past years that few of the birds remain, and local sportsmen will seek more profitable fields. K. P. Beatty goes to Guernsey county, where there is an abundance of birds for those who have permission to hunt. Will Hill and E. M. Knowles leave tomorrow evening for Jefferson county, and others will go to different parts of the state. Quail hunting has been on in West Virginia for several days, but no great bags by East Liverpool men have been recorded.

Sued For Wages.

Daniel Gibson entered suit in the court of Squire Rose yesterday against the Potters Co-operative company or as it is better known the Dresden pottery. He claims $27.25 due for wages. He resigned his position at the Dresden a short time ago and claims they refused to settle with him. The case will be heard on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

NOT A CASE OF MURDER

Thomas Dorsey Died of Alcoholism

SO SAY THE PHYSICIANS

And Coroner Straughn Returned a Verdict in Accordance with the Facts. There was no Evidence to Show that the Unfortunate Man Died From the Effects of a Blow.

If Tom Dorsey died because of injuries received in a fight there were no indications brought forward at the inquest held last night.

Coroner Straughn arrived here yesterday evening, and after investigation found that the post mortem could be held last evening. Doctor Laughlin and Doctor Marshall were called and conducted the autopsy, making a complete examination, and failing to find any indication warranting the belief that Dorsey had been murdered. The result of the examination proved that he came to his death from the inordinate use of intoxicants, and there was no one to blame but himself. The following is the written statement to the coroner: "The organs commonly affected by chronic alcoholism were changed and diseased which lead to fatal hemorrhage of the stomach, bowels and kidneys. As there was no evidence of any external violence in the regions of any of these diseased organs, the exciting cause of the fatal hemorrhage must have been violent exercise or a fall."

In conversation Doctor Laughlin said the predisposing cause was the excessive use of liquor. He had what was known as a hobo or whiskey liver, and all the organs which liquor could affect were in a weakened condition. Doctor Marshall did the surgical work, and the post mortem lasted about two hours. All those connected with the case are satisfied. The coroner attempted to find something of the man's life in the past, but could obtain no news. A number of people knew of Dorsey since he came here, but before that time they knew nothing.

There seems to be a question of doubt as regards the identity of Dorsey, and some of his relatives are wondering if he was known here by his real name. Every effort has been made to find some of his relations, but all have failed, and it is now recalled that he never talked of himself or told anything of what he was before he came to this place.

THE ROYAL ARCANUM.

A Demonstration by the Lodge Last Night.

Sixty members of Peter Cooper council, Royal Arcanum, were at the lodge-room last night when Grand Secretary J. M. McKinstrey was introduced. The gentleman is from Cleveland, and is so well known to the members that they listened attentively to the excellent address he delivered. Speeches were made by N. T. Ashbaugh, D. E. Nellis and J. M. Burns, and the council adjourned to dispose of a neat lunch which had been prepared for the occasion. In addition to the persons present from this city there were a number of Wellsville brothers there.

The national council of Junior Mechanics has issued a proclamation calling upon all members of the order to attend church on the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving day. A committee was appointed by the local council last night to see that arrangements for the event were made.

TO ASSIST MR. SPEAKER.

James Carey of Salem, in the McGregor Case.

SPECIAL TO NEWS REVIEW.
NEW LISBON, Nov. 9.—When the McGregor case comes to trial Attorney James Carey of Salem, will be present to assist Prosecutor Speaker. Mr. Carey was engaged for the task this morning. He is a railroad solicitor and has done much work for the Pennsylvania company, being considered a man of power.

THE OFFICIAL COUNT.

What Congressional Candidates Received.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW.
NEW LISBON, Nov. 9.—The election board completed the count last night and announced the result in this county as follows: Taylor, 6,349, Ball 2,578, Coxey 2,536, Brosius 632.

Hanson's Mishap.

Will Hanson, a boy about 14 years of age, had a close call at the Dresden pottery the other day. He was standing with his head in the elevator shaft and looking toward the roof when the elevator came up slowly and unnoticed by him. Before the man in the cage could stop it the elevator had caught young Hanson about the neck and drew him several feet in the air. He hung there gasping for breath and kicking about until the motion was reversed and he dropped to the floor. Had it not been for the prompt action of the party in charge of the machine the boy would undoubtedly have had his neck broken. Hanson works for George White, a fitterman in the plant, and the latter took him to Doctor Williams' office and later to his home on Second street. He was not badly hurt.

For the Town Clock.

The Elks have decided to have the great traveler, Frank G. Carpenter, lecture here on the evening of Dec. 19, at the Grand, the proceeds to be devoted to a fund for purchasing a clock for the new school building. The Elks realized that they have had a benefit but a short time ago, and they do not want the impression to go out that they want all the money in town. The Elks will not realize a cent from the lecture, all that remains after expenses are paid, going toward the clock. Mr. Carpenter is widely known as a lecturer and writer.

Seating Completion.

Architect Owsley was in town today looking after the new school building, and is much pleased with the progress of the work. He found that the tower requires but four feet more of brick work to complete that portion, and the space left for clock dials meets his every expectation. The wet weather delay amounted to almost nothing, and he can find no reason for believing that it will not be completed on time.

Dull in Lisbon.

NEW LISBON, Nov. 9.—There is an air of dullness about the courthouse today, nothing of importance being done. In probate court Mary J. Haven was appointed guardian this morning for the children of the late S. B. Haven, of Middleton township, with $1,000 bond. In the estate of the late George Hurst the provisions of the will were explained to the widow, Emma Firth, and she elected to take under the same.

Reverend Huston Will Lecture.

For some time past Reverend Huston, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, has been earnestly urged to deliver a humorous lecture entitled "Telegraphic View of the Anthropos," and has finally consented to give it some time in December. Those who have had the pleasure of listening to this lecture, pronounce it rich, racy and laughter provoking, as well as instructive and entertaining.

Belts Knockers.

He is only a youngster, but aims to be called a pugilist and a wrestler. He has been engaged in several fights lately, and, unfortunately for himself and his future, has succeeded in making his boyish opponents cry enough. He has, in consequence, become a swaggerer and a bully, and will hold this manner until some pluckier, stouter and more muscular lad gives him the flogging he so richly deserves.

Scared the Horses.

As the carriage of James H. Goodwin was passing Sixth and Franklin streets this morning the horses became frightened, and passing beyond control of the driver dashed into a telephone pole. The tongue of the buggy was broken, which freed the horses, and they dashed down the street to the stable. No one was hurt, and a few dollars will pay all expenses.

The Lecture Tonight.

The committee having in charge the lecture course of the Young Men's Christian association anticipate a good audience at the Grand tonight to hear Doctor Crawford. Many tickets have been disposed of in Wellsville, and a large number in this city. The course is the best ever made up for this city, and deserves patronage.

Progress in Street Work.

Contractor Ryan expects to have the paving of Sheridan avenue completed tomorrow evening, and with that end in view is pushing along as rapidly as possible. Work on Norton street is delayed because of rain, and the place is a mass of sticky mud. The contractor is setting the curbing on May street, and is satisfied with the progress already made.

Want a Board of Trade.

The Lisbon Leader is attempting to rouse the business men of the county and have them organize a board of trade to help boom the town.

A Position in Columbus.

Miss Emma Green, of this place, has secured a position in Columbus at the deaf and dumb institution.

SOME POTTERS STRIKE

The Tiltonville Establishment Closed.

A REDUCTION WAS OFFERED

Manager Rowe Claiming that Other Potteries were Working Below the List—The Proposed Cut is From 15 to 30 Per Cent.

The potters employed at the Tiltonville sanitary pottery have struck against a reduction of wages.

Since the establishment was destroyed by fire the company has been playing in the worst kind of luck, and eventually passed into the hands of a receiver. The employees, realizing the position of the concern, consented to leave a part of their wages in the office, and took what they believed was the right course in helping the company out of its troubles. After varying fortunes, with which the readers of the News Review are conversant, the announcement was made that the plant would start this week. Last Friday evening there was a ball in the pottery, and the men believed that they would soon have work. When they reported for duty they were presented with a new list, and asked to accept it on the ground that other sanitary potteries were not paying the old list price. After looking it over they declined, and the works did not start. President Al Hughes of the Brotherhood, was called to the place and investigated the matter. At Wheeling the claim was made by the company that they were paying the price, and the men offered to submit their wage and wages to the inspection of anyone man decided upon to prove the assertion. They have every reason to believe that Baltimore, Kokomo and Tiffin are paying the old rate, and the men at Tiltonville believe it is discrimination to ask them to accept a lower price. The works have not been started and the whole town is saddened by the occurrence, as it was hoped that after all the trials of the past year the pottery would be in operation. Some of the men were in Trenton when the call came for them to return to work, and they now think that they have the trouble for coming as a reward.

East Liverpool is interested in Tiltonville because a number of people from this city reside in that place.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, NOV. 9.

SENATOR HILL has proven that to be a Democrat is to insure defeat.

GROVER CLEVELAND is almost as dead in a political way as the late candidate Coxey.

THE Democratic papers of Ohio are still attempting to explain just why their loss is so heavy this year.

REPUBLICAN returns continue to come in, and the victory is more glorious than was at first expected.

A REPUBLICAN congressman in Texas shows that the wool growers of that region have been thinking.

COLUMBIANA county is a Republican county because the people have faith in the integrity of the Republican party.

TOM JOHNSON lost, because his platform is more distasteful to the American people than any set of principles

he could evolve.

THE Eighteenth district is proud of its congressman-elect, because it believes he is going to make himself heard in Washington.

THE Ohio Democrats who wanted

free silver put in their platform probably realize now that the people are not so wild as they imagined.

POPULISTIC tendencies are fast losing their hold in this country. There have been too many vagaries in American politics these past few years.

NOTHING is more inconsistent than the Democratic press. The Lisbon

Patriot says editorially that 90 per cent of the Coxey vote came from the Democrats, and in another paragraph says that "Democrats are soldiers, and will stand by their colors to the end of time." Something wrong there, Potts. Better revise it and see if it will not read a little better.

A GLANCE over the field after election shows that the Democrats are routed on every hand. In only the most solid states of the solid south

did they hold their own, and another vigorous campaign may result in a break or two beyond what is now believed to be the confines of reason.

It was a victory of the people, a victory over incompetency, and a victory over injurious legislation.

TIME TO QUIT.

During the campaign the Democratic press howled until it was black in the face, using Commissioner Bye

as the hub of what it professed to believe was a circle of conclusive argument. According to the slanderous utterances of every Democratic paper in the county, Mr. Bye was a thief of every color, and should not be trusted with a cent of public money.

Their abuse of the gentleman was so open that the public could not but wonder at the impudent bearing of his accusers. On election day the people vindicated Mr. Bye by giving him another term. They showed that they do not believe one word of the silly accusations, and believe the gentleman to be as honest as the day is long. Now, it is time for these Democratic papers to quit, time for them to cease their tirades of abuse, and settle down to an acceptance of the inevitable. They have tried often to get their grasping hand into the country treasury, and now they should realize that the county will have none of it. They aim too high for realization.

REMEMBER—THE PLACE—REMEMBER.

JOSEPH BROS.

LIKE MARBLE, THOUGH ALIVE.

Attacked by Cataplexy While Standing, He Remained In That Attitude.

One of the most remarkable exhibitions of the power and influence of cataplexy, a form of hysteria that contracts the muscles and divests the subject of the sensation of volition, occurred in this city a few days since, in which

Thomas Purdy, a laborer, was the subject. In company with several other workmen Purdy was engaged in digging

a trench.

He was standing at the top of the trench, with a long handled shovel, moving the gravel which a workman below threw to the top, when with the suddenness of an electric flash the man became transfixed in position, as immovable as a piece of statuary. He was in the act of raising the shovel when attacked. His right hand tightly clutched the shovel handle near its end and the left hand near the middle. His left leg was advanced and slightly bent at the knee, while the blade of the shovel pointed at an inclination of about 30 degrees. His eyes were closed.

Every muscle of the lithe and compactly built workman was as taut and rigid as though constructed of iron.

One of the workmen who observed his condition got out of the trench and undertook to remove the shovel held by the silent workman. The shovel, though, was clutched with an iron grip, and although he tugged hard he was unable to remove it from the clutches of the possessor. The man's feet were firmly planted on the ground as though nailed,

and he stood there as rigid and motionless as a piece of statuary.

Physicians were summoned to the scene, and the marvelous sight was witnessed by hundreds of citizens. Several unsuccessful attempts to remove the shovel from his hands were made, when Police Captain Alaback, assisted by several officers, succeeded in removing it from his grasp, although it seemed that they would surely break off his fingers in so doing. The man's heart beat with the ordinary pulsations, and the lungs were performing their vocation.

After the man had stood in this position for over two hours he was picked up like a piece of marble, placed in the patrol wagon and conveyed to a hospital.

He remained in substantially the same condition for two whole days, during which time his bedside was almost constantly surrounded by physicians, who were intensely interested in the case. There were indications that the man was conscious of all his surroundings. Although improved in condition, he has not yet been able to relate his experience.—Dayton (O.) Dispatch.

BETSY AND ALICE.

Uncle Sam's Two Biggest Guns and How

They Behave Under Fire.

Betsy and Alice, the two biggest guns

now in regular service in our navy, were tried very successfully, it appears, in target practice at Fort Angeles the other day. They are 12 inch guns, mounted in the forward turret of the coast defender Monterey.

Each was loaded with an 825 pound projectile, propelled by 425 pounds of powder. Targets were set up at various points in the bay, and Betsy and Alice were fired four times each, the huge shells ricocheting and glancing along the waters of the straits for miles beyond the targets, to the great delight of the throngs that lined the bluffs to witness the sight. Last spring experiments with the Monterey in a rough sea showed that her turrets worked well, even under such conditions. Captain Kempf reported that the greatest sliding motion of the forward turret in running in the trough of the sea for over half a hour was only about seven-sixteenths of an inch, and while rolling from 9 to 14

degrees the turret was kept constantly moving and worked as easily as if the monitor had been at anchor in port.

In the recent trial of the battery Betsy and Alice were fired simultaneously, but the hydraulic cushions took up the recoil well. Some doors and light glass about the ship were shattered by the shock, and even two wooden boxes 25 feet away on the deck were crushed and splintered. Yet the men in the turret were not troubled, while the ship as a whole stood the firing without strain.

These four shots each are all that will be allowed to Betsy and Alice for a year under the rules for annual firing.

Perhaps the big guns will be silent still longer, for the Monterey is soon to be put out of commission in order that the crew may be used for the Olympia.

"LOVE AND LIFE"

The Famous Painting That May Not Hang
In the Executive Mansion.

To be hung or not to be hung is the question just at present in Washington.

Those in favor of hanging say that the allegorical painting "Love and Life" presented to the American people

by the distinguished English artist,

George Frederick Watts, R. A., ought to grace the walls of the executive mansion in Washington. Those who oppose the hanging claim that "Love and Life" is immoral; that representations of what Trilby called "the altogether" ought never to be seen anywhere, but least of all in the District of Columbia, and seem to think that the proposition to hang the painting in the east room of the White House is nothing less than a deep laid scheme to entrap the government into a quasi official approval of indecent art.

So that the great painter's generous gift has stirred up a greater commotion,

if that were possible, than the famous controversy which arose about the figures on the St. Gaudens medal.

It is at the door of Colonel John M.

Wilson, superintendent of public buildings, that the responsibility is said to lie. No one supposes for an instant that

Watts presented the painting to America for it to be carefully boxed up and stowed away in an inaccessible room in the White House. It is hardly likely that the subject of "Love and Life" was altogether unknown to the members of congress, who, last session, accepted the gift in the name of the American people. The painting was exhibited here for several months nine years ago in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It was among the pictures placed on exhibition last year at the World's fair, and it has been reproduced often enough to warrant the assumption that we are a very immoral people

if the influence of the picture is as corrupting as is said.

In addition, the people of the United States, through Secretary Gresham, pledged their word after congress had accepted the gift that it would be hung in the White House, a letter to that effect being written to the artist.

But the picture, according to Colonel

Wilson, is not a fit one to be exhibited in the executive mansion. He simply ignored the claims of Mr. Watts to be regarded as one of the first among living painters and stated that until the pres-could not think of allowing such a work to be exposed to public view in the rooms of the White House, even though the work in question were intended to

FOR THE REVIEW.

Gentle Reminders to Democracy and Coxyites.

The battle is over and the victory won. Poor Grover is sad, can't see the fun. The masses have spoken in stentorian tones, and nothing can silence Democracy's moans.

Wilson, free trader, of "banqueting" fame, Staked his all, and there lost the game. He "stocked" the cards, in his sleeve held an ace, But the workingmen "trumped" him—he's now in disgrace.

Alas, poor Coxy, he of infinite brass, He has crawled in his hole, and has "got off the grass," While his chums in the West have shared his sad lot, And the Populist craze has all gone to pot.

The Grand Old Party, which has long bore the brunt, Will again save the nation—once more to the front. Our fair land will prosper—no more hours of need. We will march "neath the banner of McKinley and Reed.

STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

TOO MEAN TO LIVE.

Yes, Such a Thief Deserves Hanging and Quartering.

To steal, under almost any circumstances, is very reprehensible and deserving of censure and condemnation. But to steal coal from the property of a helpless and sick widow, and leave the poor woman without fuel, is about as mean and dirty a theft as can well be conceived of. And yet this occurrence has just taken place in East Liverpool. Pity the miserable creature who did the stealing. Had not received a load of bird shot in his anatomy, as a warning against future work of a like character. Fortunately for the widow lady in question, charitable ladies became aware of her unfortunate predicament and at once ordered a load of coal to be sent to her residence, while a neighbor furnished a padlock, and thus barred the way of the thief. Surely the stolen coals should be "coals of fire" in the prowler's life, if he is possessed of anything in the nature of a conscience.

Very Deceptive.

A gentleman of East Liverpool made a small purchase in one of our places of business the other evening, and tendered the courteous lady clerk a silver dollar in payment, at the same time speaking to her about something else, attracting her attention momentarily, and substituting a half dollar for the dollar, passing the smaller coin noiselessly over the larger coin held in his hand. The clerk received the coin, deposited the same in the "dollar" receptacle and gave the customer ninety cents in change. He asked her if she was sure she had given the correct change, and she made reply that he had given her a silver dollar and she had returned him ninety cents. She was finally persuaded to open the money drawer again, discovered the half instead of the dollar, and her face wore a decidedly puzzled expression, only clearing away when the modus operandi of the trick was explained to her. She is more than careful now in making change.

He is Happy.

In conversation with an East Liverpool business man last evening the latter said: "Yes, I'm happy over the result of the late election, and I believe I have good and legitimate reasons for my happiness. If you would make me a present of $2,000, don't you think I'd feel good in consequence? Well, sir, I'd rather have the election result as it did than to be made a present of $2,000 by you. Of course the Republicans cannot legislate the nation into prosperity at present, but they can restrain and hold in check that party which has been attempting to ruin the land and its interests for the past two years, and the knowledge of this fact has given me, in common with thousands of business men throughout the country, renewed confidence, and the result cannot fail in bringing added prosperity. Yes, sir, I am decidedly happy over the election, and you can give voice to my sentiments in the columns of the NEWS REVIEW if you so desire."

Ladies Brigade.

The ladies of the drill brigade are now drilling almost every night, and will be in readiness on the nights of November 15, 16 and 17, when they make their appearance at the Fifth street rink, and take part in the fine program which has been prepared by the Ladies auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association. Don't fail to attend the fair on the nights mentioned, or you will miss a treat. Delicious ice cream and palatable cake will be on tap.

Avondale Mud.

Persons residing at the foot of Avondale street are complaining because of the mud. The recent rains washed out a great deal of the earth turned up by the contractor when the street was graded, and floated it to the lowest part. One of the complaining ones said today that council should have some kind of a board crossing built there before another season of rain makes it even worse than it is at present.

Where Knowledge is Disastrous.

Township Trustee Thomas Lloyd is still an admirer of dogs, but cares nothing for the wise variety. A short time ago he received from a relative in Cleveland a pup which was valued highly. It was evidently a very intelligent animal, and soon showed a desire to learn tricks, good and bad. Among these Mr. Lloyd taught the canine to bring him an old hat every time he threw it into the yard. Finally the hat was worn out, and the pup looked about for more hats to conquer. One evening Mr. Lloyd was making his toilet previous to attending a social. He had purchased a new hat, and finally when he was ready to start, went down stairs where he had left it on a sofa. Imagine his surprise on finding the intelligent pup standing in the center of the floor viewing the remains of the deer and anxiously awaiting his master's approval. Needless to say the pup's inclination to learn tricks has since been discouraged.

Lost a Finger.

Conn. Alterman, one of the engineers at the light plant lost a finger when at work last night. With another employee he was tightening the governor when a bar slipped striking him on the hand. At first the injury did not seem so severe that a finger would be taken off, but the physician decided that it was the best course, and it was amputated below the second joint. It is the first accident during all the work done in repairing the plant.

Booming the Heptasophs.

Doctor Birkett, secretary of the Heptasophs, has received word from headquarters in Baltimore saying that George H. Fox, district organizer of the order, will be here next week for the purpose of booming Ogden conclave in this city. Mr. Fox will be tendered a reception next week the time for which has not yet been set. Members of the local conclave expect to see many members added before the organizer leaves the city.

Jollifying in Wheeling.

The Republicans of West Virginia are so joyful because of the great victory that they propose to let the whole state know of it next Saturday. There will be a mighty demonstration in Wheeling, and all the towns for miles around will be represented in force. A number of enthusiasts from this city will be there, and if a sufficient number can be secured an attempt will be made to secure excursion rates.

No Work at Irondale.

An Irondale correspondent says that the mill did not start last Monday, because some important machinery failed to arrive. The company received the missing parts, and are ready for a start on Monday if the men will work. It is claimed that enough workers have been promised to put on two turns, and no trouble is anticipated. The number who have gone to Indiana is put at 30, but some have returned, and will wait until all trouble is over.

Joining the Jubilee.

The Salvation Army band accompanied by a number of the society went to Pittsburg this afternoon to attend the reception tendered to General Booth. The great leader of the army arrived there this morning, and is being tendered every honor the army can give. The local organization have been preparing for the event, and because of numbers and the band will make a splendid showing. There were about 25 persons in the party.

Warrant For a Trespass.

George Ebberts, the boy who was arrested last summer suspected with having some connection with the Bagley burglary, is again in trouble. This time Truant Officer Beardmore is after the youth because he will not go to school. A warrant has been issued. A resident of the Calcutta road has been given five days in which to send his son for public instruction. The officer does not have much to do, as the school laws are generally being obeyed.

Odd Fellows.

On Monday evening next the Odd Fellows of East Liverpool will confer the third degree on a member of Hanover lodge. A number of Hanoverians will be present and take part, and our local members of the order contemplate making it extremely pleasant for the visitors, in return for the courteous treatment extended to our East Liverpool boys when they visited Hanover.

—Mrs. Murray, who has been staying with friends in the West End for a few weeks, left last night for a visit in Wheeling.

MRS. TAYLER

Will Be an Acquisition to Washington Society.

A special from New Lisbon says: The wife of Congressman-elect Robert W. Tayler is a lady of rare personal attraction and charm of manner. She is a daughter of the late Judge Vance, and has had many advantages of education and society. She has traveled much abroad. Her particular forte is the pianoforte, and besides being a genuine lover of music, she executes, with truth and delicacy, many classical compositions. While a society lady in the sense of her fitness to fill a position of dignity with ease and grace, she is essentially a home lover, and especially fond of country life. She spends much time and energy in church work.

Peculiar Journalism.

A few days since a citizen of East Liverpool was engaged in a transaction which he wished to hide from the public gaze. It was nothing of a shameful or dishonest nature, but he simply wished that it might not be a matter of common knowledge, to be talked about and discussed upon the streets. Becoming cognizant of the fact that wideawake newspaper men had the matter in their possession, he called at the NEWS REVIEW office and courteously requested that the item might be suppressed. He received a favorable answer, and waited upon the proprietors of a so-called newspaper, not a thousand miles distant. Here, also, he met a favorable answer, but found it necessary to add to the wealth of the would-be journalist in the sum of $5. Peculiar journalism, to say the least. Residents here tell us that this is an old game on the part of the fellow.

Some Weather.

The weather prophets, who pretend to know something of what is to come, have decided that snow will fall on the 11th, followed by a cold wave until the 17th. Frosty weather will come immediately afterward, and storms will surely follow. About the 21st there will be a heavy storm, followed to the 27th by cold and frosty weather that will make the coal dealer happy. The month will end in a whirl of snow and frost, tempests being experienced every day until December comes.

Protecting the Fleet.

Charles Jutte & Co. have completed two costly icebreakers that are the best along the Upper Ohio—each 40 feet long and 30 feet high, and made of the best material obtainable. W. H. Surles, a member of the firm, and Boatman Kennedy, with 20 men, were finishing the work last night when the steamer Rescue arrived from Pittsburg with the first consignment of coal on this rise. Over 5,000 feet of oak timber and 1,400 perch of stone were required to build the abutments.

How They Do It.

One of the most energetic and successful travelers going from this city cited an instance of what competition he is expected to meet and overcome in his territory. The representative of an importing house was in his territory selling a dinner set of 120 pieces, including a soup tureen, for less money than he could sell a set of 100 pieces. The offer was so wonderful that the importer had all the advantage and could beat him anywhere.

A Plain Question.

"Why is it," asked a potter to a NEWS REVIEW man last night, "that the Democratic organ here insists on publishing the statement as often as some one gives it a voice that the Staffordshire potteries are booming? It is just such a boom as the people of this country cannot stand very long, and if the potteries were not being run very close would shut up every plant in town. I know what I am talking about, for I lived there."

Broke the Chimney.

There was a row on a shantyboat last night, but the particulars are hard to obtain. It appears that two men who have long been at loggerheads met in the boat of a mutual friend, and one of them brought up the old difficulty. In a minute both were fighting, and the contest waged fiercely until one seized a lantern and struck the other on the head. The globe was broken and the man's face cut.

Recent Transfers.

William L. and William H. Deidrick have purchased a piece of land in Liverpool township from Philoa DeBee for $295.

James W. and James H. Martin have sold to Margaret Green and James Hughes one-sixth of an acre in Liverpool township for $40.

May Be Serious.

Patrick McNicol, the Fifth street man who recently fell from a building and sustained painful bruises, was injured more than was at first suspected, and is today very ill. He is 75 years of age, and his injuries are complicated with pleurisy, which is causing him a great deal of trouble.

OLNEY'S LABOR VIEWS

He Writes an Opinion on the Reading Controversy.

WORKMEN HAVE A RIGHT TO UNITE

And They Cannot Be Legally Deprived of It—Reading Receivers Cannot Rule That Their Men Must Be Non-Unionists. Strikes Are Entirely Lawful.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The controversy between the receivers of the Reading Railroad company and such employees as are members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has prompted an expression of opinion from Attorney General Olney, in the form of a letter to Judge Dallas, of the United States circuit court before whom the case is pending. The difficulty between the two organizations reached a crisis on Aug. 15 last, when General Superintendent Sweigard summoned before him 11 employees and notified them that they should abandon the brotherhood as a condition of retaining their places with the railroad company. Vigorous protests were made against this alternative, and the brotherhood urged the receivers to withdraw it, but in answer the receivers on Sept. 17 wrote: "The policy of this company is well known to be that it will not consent that persons in its service shall owe allegiance to other organizations which may make claims upon them where incompatible with their duties to their employers. This position was taken advisedly, and we have no intentions of departing from it."

Attorney General Olney's letter is an exhaustive discussion of the questions presented, and he reviews the various problems and the consistent solutions to be applied in every aspect.

In substance, he holds that labor organization is practically powerless; that in combinations such as this lies the only safeguard of the workingman in his dealings with organized capital, and that his right to belong to such a union, beneficial in intent and purpose, is a legal right which he cannot be deprived of.

The attorney general further says that the organization is of a beneficial nature, and that to compel members to quit it would cause them to lose the money they have already paid in and further deprive them of sick and death benefits by having to quit the order.

He further holds that the receivers have no right to make such a ruling regarding organized labor, as the road is under the direction of the courts, and it would be inadvisable for the courts to take such a stand against organized labor.

Then he quotes the constitution of the order and shows that it is of a beneficial nature and for the regulation of wages, hours, etc., and general protection of the members. There is nothing in the constitution to which the most captious critic can object, except the provisions made for strikes, and even in this the provisions are of an eminently conservative character—thus a strike does not take effect till approved. First, by the local grievance committee. Second, by the general grievance committee. Third, by a board of adjustment. And, fourth, by the grand master, with the consent of two-thirds of the members involved, while striking or inciting to strike, except in accordance with the above rules, is punished by expulsion from the brotherhood.

As to what a "strike" is, is not defined by the brotherhood constitution and rules, its precise nature must be determined by the court. And, as the brotherhood is entitled to the ordinary protection of law for its methods as well as its objects until the contrary is shown, the court will hold the thing termed "strike" in the brotherhood constitution and rules to be something lawful unless there cannot be such a thing as a lawful "strike".

But whatever may be the customary or probable incidents or accomplishments of a strike, it cannot be ruled that there is no such thing as a legal strike, that every strike must be unlawful. The necessary elements of a strike are only three: 1. The quitting of work. 2. By consent between two or more. 3. Simultaneously—and in and of themselves involve no taint of illegality. A strike becomes illegal when, to these necessary features, are added others, such as a malicious intent followed by actual injury, intimidation, violence, the creation of a public nuisance or a breach of peace of any sort.

But even if the strike did not belong to an organization, they would likely combine as individuals and strike whenever they had a grievance. But it is unnecessary to elaborate the proposition that a strike is not necessarily unlawful since it is emphatically sustained by the recent decision of the circuit court of appeals in Farmers' Loan and Trust company vs. Northern Pacific Railroad company, just decided in Chicago.

Then Mr. Olney says that the only reason brotherhood men should not be employed would be business expediency, such objection arising from the fact that the organization's constitution permitted strikes. But, as stated above, non-union men can also strike, and the restraining rules of the brotherhood are positively beneficial. The attorney general then says that the rejection of the proposed rule may reasonably be expected to be attended with such substantial advantages that the court can hardly hesitate as to the course which sound business policy dictates.

The court by appointing receivers constitutes itself not only an employer of labor, but the arbitrator of all disputes between it and the receivers who may justly be regarded as representatives of capital. It occupies the dual capacity of employer and arbitrator naturally and inevitably. It is an arbitrator whose wisdom and impartiality are certainly to be assumed to be beyond suspicion. It is an arbitrator with whom both parties have reason to be satisfied both from its character and its ability to make its decision effective and might well be expected to furnish, should circumstances permit or require, a conspicuous object lesson illustrative of the value of the arbitration principle.

The attorney general then concludes as follows: In short, the question is, whether business policy requires the court to approve the rule that a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in ipso facto ineligible as an employee of the receivers of the Reading railroad, and an officer of the court, the conclusive considerations may be summarized up as follows:

"1. The rule is of doubtful value as a preventative of strikes, because it leaves employees to act upon impulse and from passion and freed from the restraints of the brotherhood regulations."

"2. The rule is of doubtful value when the court is the real employer, employed to defy the court's authority and from the power of the latter to speedily and summarily vindicate it."

"3. The rule is of positively injurious tendency in the disaffection and discontent engendered among employees by the denial to them of rights enjoyed by citizens generally and deemed necessary for their security and comfort."

"4. The repudiation of the rule, on the other hand, has the positive merit: (A) of tending to secure for the service the good will of employees and thus promoting its efficiency; (B) of recognizing the real conditions of the capital and labor problem, and the fact that labor both has the right to organize and is organized; (C) of illustrating the working under the most favorable auspices of the principle of arbitration as the means of adjusting the differences between capital and labor; (D) of demonstrating that there is not one law for one class of the community and another for another, but the same for all, and of thus tending to preserve for the law and for the judiciary by which it is administered that general respect and confidence which have always been a marked characteristic as well as excellence of our institutions."

BISHOP ANDREWS GOT MAD.

He Openly Accuses Chaplain McCabe With Misrepresenting Him.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 9.—The second day's session of the Methodist Missionary conference was held at the Hanson Place M. E. church, Bishop John T. Newman presiding. After prayers had been offered by the Rev. Dr. Banks, Bishop E. C. Andrews of New York moved that 2-1-2 per cent be taken from the home and given to the foreign missions. Chaplain McCabe spoke next and said that Bishop Andrews almost invariably opposed all his plans.

"That's false," shouted Bishop Andrews, "show me where I have opposed you."

Chaplain McCabe replied that he had not kept a memorandum, but intimated that he would keep one for future use. He said that the bishop's education regarding the needs of western frontier missions had been sadly neglected. At this point Bishop Newman called upon Chaplain McCabe to drop the question and keep to the question and debate.

An appropriation of 55 per cent for home and 45 for foreign missions was finally decided upon.

Not Scared About the Rhyndland.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Inquiries made at offices of the American Line of Steamships shows that the officers of that company do not feel any anxiety about the safety of the steamer Rhyndland of that line, which, according to a sensational story published here, is now six days over due on her voyage from this port to Antwerp. Under the most favorable conditions of weather, the officers of the American line add, the Rhyndland could not have reached her destination before Monday or Tuesday last, and in such weather as has been reported on the Atlantic, the steamer would have gone at greatly reduced speed. The Rhyndland has on board about 180 passengers. Later reports say the vessel is now at Antwerp.

General Booth in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—William B. Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, formally started on his tour of the nation in this city today. This ends the United States trip proper. Leaving Seattle the general will go to Vancouver, thence he will traverse the great Canadian north-west.

William Mosley Hall, an oldtime railroad promoter, is dead in New York.

The cash balance in the treasury yesterday was $105,000,000, gold reserve $61,830,401.

Dr. Parkhurst has been elected honorary member of the Union League club, New York.

The Jacksonville (Fla.) city council has repealed the glove control ordinance, which will prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight there.

POPS. CLAIM TEXAS.

They Say Nugent Has a Plurality of 80,000.

30,000 PLURALITY FOR CULBERSON

Claimed by the Democrats—Every Return Shows Phenomenal Populist Gains. Populists Gain Two Congressmen and Probably Four.

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 9.—Texas, too, was probably caught in the slide of Tuesday, but by Populists instead of Republicans. The time-worn plurality of 180,000 for Democracy is a thing of the past. The returns very materially change the situation from that of Wednesday, when the Democrats were confident of a plurality of 80,000, while now they will be satisfied if barely ahead.

Every return throughout the state shows phenomenal Populist gains, and may possibly indicate the election of Nugent, the Populist nominee for governor. The state is claimed by both parties. The Populists claim a plurality of 80,000 for Nugent, while the Democrats only claim the state for Culberson by 30,000. The Democratic strongholds have been heard from, while the Populists are yet to receive the returns from the country districts.

Mayor Kearby, Populist for congress, so far as returns are in from Dallas county, leads Abbott, Democrat, by about 600. If Kearby counts out as strongly in the city as his friends expect he will, the race in the Sixth district will be a decidedly close one. The election of Gilliland, Populist, over Bell, Democrat, in the Nineteenth district, is assured. The Democrats certainly lost two and possibly four congressmen.

HOUSE COMPLEXION CHANGED.

It Now Stands Republicans 259 and Democrats 101.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Later returns received give the Republicans at least 259 members in the house. It is now claimed that Representative McMillen is beaten in Tennessee. Bland, Hatch, Heard, Clark and Morgan are defeated in Missouri. The house now stands as follows:

Chairman Bacoak says that from present indications the Republicans will have at least 44 members in the senate, and in this number is included Senator Jones of Nevada.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The indications are that the Fifty-fourth congress will open with numerous contests for seats in the house of representatives from the southern states. Reports received here make it plain that unless there is a change either of mind or conditions there will be at least three contests from Louisiana, of one or two from Virginia, and of some from North Carolina and Tennessee, with a possibility of such contests from Alabama, Kentucky, Maryland and Arkansas.

The Vote in West Virginia.

WHEELING, Nov. 9.—The Republican majority of the popular vote is about 14,000, a gain of 18,000 over 1892. The legislature will stand 28 Republican majority on joint ballot. They will control both branches, having two majority in the senate and 26 in the house. The majority for congress are: Dover (non-official) First district, 4,000; Dayton, Second district, 2,000; Huling, Third district, 3,900; Moller, Fourth district, 3,300.

Both Parties Claim Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 9.—The gubernatorial muddle in this state seems no nearer a settlement. Both the Democratic and Republican committee claim the election. Returns come in slow, and it seems more certain than before that the official count in each county will be required to decide whether Turney (Democrat) or Evans (Republican) is elected governor.

Democratic Governor in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The plurality of the Democratic candidate for governor in California will be about 2,000. The Republicans have elected the remainder of the state ticket and will have a majority of at least 20 in the next legislature. The latest returns show there is no doubt that the Republicans have six of the seven congressmen.

The Fusion Ticket Elected.

RALEIGH, Nov. 9.—Semi-official returns from nearly every county in the state indicate that the fusion ticket, state, judicial and legislative, put out by the Republicans and Populists, is elected by some 20,000 majority.

The Vote in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Chairman Dick's estimate puts the Republican plurality in Ohio at 138,294. It is not believed the official count will vary much from these figures.

Ritchie and Other Officers in Attendance at Cincinnati.

The tribunal is composed of five tribunals, appointed by the supreme chancellor as follows: Judge George E. Seay, chief, tribune, Dallas, Tex.; John H. Alexander, Leesburg, Va.; Benjamin T. ## A Cincinnati Bank Sued.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—The First National bank of New York city has sued David B. Armstrong, receiver of the Fidelity bank, to recover $231,070, a balance of a loan made the Fidelity bank by plaintiff in 1887, of $400,000. The Fidelity issued to plaintiff two certificates of deposits for $200,000 each, and by the agreement were to deposit with plaintiff $440,000 of its choice bills receivable as collateral. It only furnished $335,000 in all as collateral, and this was not of the kind agreed upon, but was utterly worthless and uncollectable. The original debt of $400,000 has been reduced by credit until the balance due is $231,070. The receiver is asked to allow the claim of plaintiff on the $335,000 worthless collateral and pay a dividend thereon not to exceed the balance due plaintiff. L. W. Goss, S. N. Maxwell and C. D. Robertson for plaintiff.

Manufacturers to Organize.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—A call has just been issued by the combined manufacturers of this city and region, inviting a convention to be held in Cincinnati on Jan. 22, 1895, to form a non-political, non-sectarian national manufacturers' association. The purposes of this organization will be to look after whole some legislation for the encouragement of manufacturing and to secure favorable trade relations with foreign countries. The invitation is without limit as to ratio of representation or number of delegates.

Will Be Buried In Ohio.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 9.—Colonel Andrew Degraw, one of the earliest settlers in Minnesota, and one of the best known railroad builders in the United States, has died at the Merchants' hotel, aged 63 years. The remains will be taken to Dayton, O., for interment. In his younger days before the war he was credited in and superintended the building of what is now the New York Central, a number of the Ohio railroads and some of the main roads in this section.

After the Big Four Shops.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—A committee from Washab, Ind., has visited President Ingalls and made overtures to build the new Big Four railroad shops at Washab. President Ingalls replied that if Washab would give 50 acres of ground and $50,000, and nature give it a lower price would secure them. The shops will cost $200,000. Other cities competing are Anderson, Marion and Greensburg.

Crashed Into a Coal Car.

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 9.—A motor on the Elyria and Lorain electric line crashed into a coal car at the crossing of the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling railway and four men were injured, at least one of them fatally. Owing to the darkness and steam on the vestibule window the freight train was not seen by Motorman John Robinson. Fred Kulger was caught in a door panel and terribly injured. Michael Waterman was fatally crushed.

Ohio Convicts Paroled.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—The penitentiary managers have granted the following paroles: James Smith, Lawrence county, three years, larceny; John Neal; Tuscarawas county, three years, bigamy; Edgar North, Clermont, three years, burglary; William Schiwer, Stark, one year, false pretense; Scott Wright, Van Wert, four years, horse stealing.

Dropped Dead at Football.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Andrew Tignor, a patient at the Imbecile asylum, dropped dead while playing football. He was 20 years of age, and came from Putnam county. Death resulted from heart disease. He came of an afflicted family, several of his brothers being inmates of the institution.

Want P. J. Elliott Paroled.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Hon. J. M. Williams of Cleveland has presented to the board of managers of the Ohio penitentiary a numerously signed petition for the parole of P. J. Elliott, serving a 20-year sentence for manslaughter from Franklin county.

General Gibson's Condition Critical.

TIFFIN, O., Nov. 9.—The condition of General William H. Gibson has become critical. The attending physicians say that he may survive a few days, but only a few weeks at the longest.

Prof. Swing's Will.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The will of the late Prof. David Swing has not yet been accurately inventoried, but the attorneys who were Prof. Swing's advisers said it would amount to about $80,000. The will gives $10,000 to the Illinois Humane society, and after making several small bequests the entire estate is given to the two daughters of Prof. Swing.

Vote In New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The official vote of New York city for mayor is as follows: William L. Strong, Republican, 153,043; Hugh J. Grant, Tammany, 108,778; Lucien Sanial, Socialist, 7,181; James McCullum, Peoples, 288; George Gettlen, Prohibition, 896. Strong's plurality, 44,265.

New York Vote for Governor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from New York state show the vote for governor as follows: Morton, 608,712; Hill, 514,574. Morton's plurality, 133,838.

GERMANY IS SHREWD,

But Secretary Morton's Aides See Through Her Scheme.

AN ENEMY OF THE DEPARTMENT

Evidently Assisting the Germans in Their Contention Concerning Texas Fever. Cattle Embargo Evidently Retaliatory Because of the Sugar Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Agricultural department officials who are watching the progress of negotiations between Germany and the United States over the question of excluding American cattle incline to the belief that in her latest move the European power has prepared for a clever stroke of diplomacy. The announcement from semi-official sources that the German government had agreed to leave the critical point of dispute—whether or not Texas fever could be communicated to their cattle by the importation of American stock—to the preponderance of expert opinion, stands on its face a material concession to the United States. It might have been accepted as such but for the qualifying statement that their chief authority would be Frank Billings of Nebraska.

The work of Dr. Billings is well known at the department. It is stated that he was formerly connected with the state agricultural experiment station of Nebraska and among other labors he conducted, and which brought his name before the public, were experiments upon swine in furtherance of an inoculation theory which the scientific men of the department studied at Dr. Billings is a Democrat, and at the beginning of this administration was a candidate, but an unsuccessful one, for the position held by Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

A thorough investigation of the propagation of Texas fever by the Bureau of Animal Industry before the present controversy with Germany had arisen led to conclusions which preclude the belief that the germs could be spread abroad by the exportation of northern cattle. Dr. Billings, however, antagonized Dr. Salmon's verdict and wrote a paper which furnishes just the authority which the Germans would doubtless desire.

Officials of the agricultural department say that it is evident that Germany has secured the writings of Dr. Billings on the subject, hence its avowed intention to rest its case upon his opinion.

Bureau scientists assert that Dr. Billings has strongly antagonized the department's work recently and think that he may be aiding the Germans in this matter.

The news that the Hamburg authorities passed two cargoes of cattle as healthy and that Prussian sanitary officers who were ordered to Hamburg discovered Texas fever, confirms the belief at the agricultural department that the exclusion of American cattle was inspired by the government as a retaliatory measure against that clause of the sugar schedule which operated against German interests.

West Virginia Town Fired.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 9.—A dastardly attempt has been made by unknown parties to destroy Addison, the county seat of Webster county, by fire. The town was set on fire in several places, and before the people could dress and get the fire extinguished the opera-house, D. M. Miller & Co.'s store and the express office building were badly damaged. The loss is very heavy, with but little insurance.

A Better Outlook For Sugar.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—There is quite an active demand for refined sugars and the market has ruled strong at 1-8 of a cent higher on all grades, except No. 6, 7, 13 and 14 of the soft sugars, which advanced 3-16 of a cent. A number of prominent dealers in the trade said that if the present demand of the buyers continue, it would only be a short time before the refiners would be able to start up again, as stocks will soon be cleaned up.

Selling Ice Four Years Old.

It is stated by Portland ice dealers that this has been the best year for business on the Kennebec since the great season of 1890. One man says that some 104 years old has been sold. This is very unusual. Ice that is 4 years old costs more to get out of the houses than it costs to cut it in the first place, for it is the ice that is at the bottom of the house and has been consolidated into a solid mass by the water flowing down from the melting cakes above and freezing these underlying cakes together. To run out a block from this is very difficult, for it is like quarrying stone from the solid ledge. It is a good thing that it can be sold if only for the cost of handling it, because it must be got out of the building somehow. Generally they bore holes in it with an auger, put in a stick of dynamite and blow the ice into fragments, which are then shoveled out.—Portland (Me.) Press.

Valuable "Material."

"They are more than mere puppets—they are the material for the social history of a great monarch and not a little of her times also." It would be difficult for an ordinary American citizen to guess what is referred to in this sentence, which occurs in an editorial article recently published in the London Standard, the principal organ of the Conservative and Unionist parties. The "material for the social history" of Queen Victoria and her times is nothing else than a collection of wooden dolls used by her majesty when she was a child.—New York Tribune.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Mrs. E. Hillman has moved from this city to Wheeling.

Mrs. Deslandes, of lower Market street, is seriously ill at her home with heart trouble and neuralgia.

Business men say that this is the best week they have had in over a year. Trade has not only been good, but very regular.

William Basing, who has been absent from the freight depot because of injuries to his back, has returned to his work. W. T. House has resigned his position on the shipping platform.

Business at the freight depot slackened the first few days of the week, but has since taken another spurt, and is now doing as well as ever, as a great deal of crockery is being shipped.

Miss Estella Arnold, a popular young lady of East End, who has been ill for several weeks, was taken much worse yesterday, and for a time her life was despaired of. She is slightly improved today.

The little son of George Tomlinson, who has been suffering at the home of his father in West End, with a complicated case of brain trouble, is slowly recovering. It was thought for weeks that he would die.

A number of persons from this city attended the "Fall of Atlanta" in Wellsville last evening. The young people did well and the girls were well drilled. The negro character is also given a share of the praise.

The Travis-Young case occupied the attention of Squire Rose's court yesterday afternoon, but the squire withheld his decision until this afternoon. Squire Manley, who tried the case of Young versus Travis, was summoned on the case yesterday as a witness.

A number of the little friends of Wood, son of Elwood Pusey, were entertained at the Pusey residence, Fourth street, last night in honor of the tenth birthday of their best. supper was served at 7 o'clock and until 9 in the evening did the youngsters enjoy themselves hugely.

A number of young people from Smith's Ferry went to Industry, Pa., last night and organized a society of the Christian Endeavor in the Presbyterian church there. Invitations were sent to a number in this city, but most of them were received too late to form a party for the trip.

The funeral of Mrs. Susannah McGinley, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Verden, Fifth street, very suddenly Tuesday night, took place from the St. Aloysius Catholic church at 9 o'clock this morning. A large number of friends attended the services and followed the remains to the Catholic cemetery.

Charles M. Dix was in Beaver yesterday attending the fifty-sixth anniversary of the marriage of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Caughey. The gentleman, although past 82 years of age, is still so vigorous that he holds a responsible position in the treasury department in Washington. He was at one time the treasurer of Beaver county.

H. E. Aiken, the well known Metropolitan agent, resigned his position yesterday and this morning went to Glasgow to teach school. He takes charge of the school there at the opening of the term on Monday morning next. Mr. Aiken was one of the most successful agents the company had in this city. He is succeeded by James S. Crumson.

The case of Emmett Willison against Contractor Lutton was dismissed by Squire Manley this morning, as he could find no cause for action. Willison had been paid by an order on the city, and the squire believed that was enough to insure the payment of the claim. A similar case filed by Marshall Green was withdrawn. Both were to have been heard by Squire Manley this morning.

For some unaccountable reason this place is just now the abode of some of the roughest looking tramps every seen in this part of the world. They move from house to house obtaining what they can, and seek the hot kilns at the potteries when night comes. East End seems to suffer more than any other part of town, although a Gardendale lady is said to have met an impudent customer.

There were but few physicians at the meeting last night, and the business for the evening was not transacted. It was decided to call a special meeting for next Thursday evening. In talking over the matter it was decided that there was a noticeable decrease in the number of dead-beats, and the list had produced a good effect upon the doctors' incomes. Some new names were added in October.

An uptown lady is a party to an interesting bet with a young man of her acquaintance. He offered recently to bet a $5 hat against one of the same value that the lady could use as much gas by meter as she did before and at the same expense. The lady is not an advocate of the measurement system and accordingly took the bet. Now those who know of it are awaiting the outcome with unabated interest.

A Madrid Scandal.

A raid was recently effected on a novel kind of gambling den in the Calle Mayor, Madrid. When the police entered the place, they discovered a small chapel or oratory. A gentleman was standing at the altar, preaching a sermon, while the rest of the company were kneeling and praying. The police were, however, not to be baffled in this way. They made a thorough search of the premises and found that by pressing a lever the chapel could be transformed into a gambling saloon, and vice versa, in an incredibly short space of time. The gamblers were recruited from the cream of Madrid society, and interesting particulars are likely to come out at the trial.—Impartial.

Interesting Orphans.

The "Orphans of New York" attracted a large crowd to the Grand last night, and pleased them immensely by the excellence of the performance. AN EXTRAORDINARY ROMANCE.

A Contest Over a Land Claim Causes a Reunion in Marriage.

A romance of more than ordinary interest, dating back to the opening of the Cherokee strip, was made public here recently, says an Arkansas City (Kan.) special.

When the great rush was made for the land of the strip, John Bell, from Bloomington, Ills., came to this city and made the race, securing a choice claim south of the Chillico reservation, but when he went to file he found that a woman by the name of Sarah Bell had filed ahead of him. He returned to the claim and found no one in possession and no signs of improvements, and, of course, thought the woman had made a mistake and filed on the wrong quarter section.

Finally, after waiting several weeks for the matter to be straightened out by the officials of the land office, he decided to file a contest, and a few days later he received a letter from a lady, who proved to be his divorced wife, whom he had been separated from for eight years. She had come here from Bloomington just before the opening, made the race and was one of the first to file, and after securing her papers returned to Illinois to sell her property there, with the intention of returning and taking possession of her claim.

Further correspondence followed, but no compromise was effected, and finally Mrs. Bell came here, bought lumber and had a house built on her claim. The date was fixed for the contest, but was postponed from time to time, but was finally to have been decided at Perry one day last week.

The two contestants boarded the train for that place at Newkirk, but before they reached their destination they were both sitting in the same seat, and John had his arm around her waist, and she was sobbing on his breast. The contest was settled.

When they arrived at Perry, they celebrated the anniversary of the opening of the Cherokee lands by being reunited in marriage. They are now living happily together on the new home near the Chillico reservation.

TIPPED THE CROWN PRINCE.

Texas Jack Rewarded Royalty For Helping Him Out of a Difficulty.

The following story is going the rounds of social circles in Copenhagen: The crown prince, who loves to take long walks, was promenading the other day along the Strandway when he came across one of the tollkeepers. After paying his tax he began a conversation with the good man, sitting on the bench which the keeper occupied. A few minutes later a rider came running toward them. The crown prince recognized him as Texas Jack, who had ridden in several races recently.

The sportsman neither knew the crown prince nor that he was to pay toll for the privilege of using the street. The keeper was obliged to catch the bridle of Texas Jack's steed, as, speaking no Danish, the latter did not understand the demands made upon him and wished to push by. Texas Jack was growing angry when his royal highness stepped forward and announced in English that users of the way had to pay 10 oere.

Upon hearing this the long haired rider at once put his hand in his pocket, pulled out 25 oere and gave the money to the crown prince. The latter offered to return him 15 oere, but the Yankee, with a majestic wave of his whip, told the crown prince to keep the change as a reward for helping him out of his difficulty.

On the following day the crown prince went to the races. Among the competitors was Texas Jack. A few minutes before he was to show the skill of himself and horse he rode up in front of the royal pavilion to make the customary obeisance to the king. But he almost dropped his reins when, looking up, he saw the man to whom he had given the fee on the preceding day occupying the place reserved for the crown prince. His royal highness greeted him, however, most heartily, and Texas Jack rode away smiling and to victory.—Copenhagen Letter.

A CAT'S FALL.

French Scientists Gravely Inquire Why Puss Always Lands on Her Feet.

The French Academy of Sciences spent almost an entire day last week profoundly discussing the question, Why do cats fall on their feet? M. Marey read a paper and submitted 60 photographs depicting puss in various attitudes while falling about five feet. The first showed the cat with feet in air making a series of desperate appeals for succor; then a somersault was turned with more or less grace; finally the feline reached the ground on its four paws, and then, with tail aloft, bolted into a safe retreat.

There was a great deal of learned discussion as to the cause of the phenomenon. M. Marey thought the problem had been triumphantly solved by puss in the first three feet of the descent. M. Milne Edwards, M. Berthelot and others maintained that the cat uses the hand or other object causing the fall as a leverage for turning round, but this did not agree with the early photographs, in which there is no sign of rotation. M. Marcel Deprez suggested that intestinal movement might account for the phenomenon. M. Marey promised to continue his experiments and to prevent the possibility of leverage by tying the cat and then letting puss drop.—Paris Correspondent.

At Devil's Oysters.

The board of managers of the Thirteen club of New York met in Davis' parlors, Orange, Saturday night and decided to hold a meeting of the club in Orange next June. Just 13 members sat down to the dinner last night. The wine cards were black, in the shape of coffins, with silver inscriptions. The oysters on the half shell were accompanied by tiny red devils in all sorts of attitudes.—Orange Dispatch.
